NRA Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Program

Do you know an outstanding officer who deserves to be NRA’s next Law Enforcement Officer of the Year?

NRA's Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Award was established in 1993 and recognizes exceptional valor, public service, and dedication to the principles of our Constitutional heritage.

If so, please take the time to recognize them by sending in a nomination form. Nominees do not have to be NRA members. To obtain a nomination form or more information go to www.nrahq.org/law and click on the Officer of the Year menu button.
On the May 1st, 2012 detectives from the Pearl Mississippi Police Department were serving search and arrest warrants at an apartment. After no answer they entered and began to the search. The suspect was found hiding in the master bathroom shower separated by a wall from the main bath area. After he refused to give up detectives, decided to use a TASER. As Detective Mike Walter leaned into the bathroom to discharge the TASER the suspect came from behind the wall firing a handgun striking him in the face and neck and he fell to the floor. Detective McCarley was then hit in the right hand almost severing his middle finger and destroying his duty handgun with another round entering his leg just above the ankle. The gunman then fired on other detectives outside the bedroom. Despite bleeding profusely Detective McCarley managed to move to the corner of the bedroom and pull a chest of drawers in front of him cover.

The wounded gunman, now sitting at the foot of the bed, regained some of his senses and took aim at McCarley when he saw that he was alive. McCarley somehow managed to calmly begin a dialogue with the shooter assuring him that surrender was still possible.

When the gunman’s was looking for responding officers outside the window and distracted by the abandoned police radios blaring on the bedroom floor McCarley started to move inch by inch towards his fallen comrade to see if he could give aid. Realizing that McCarley had made it across the room, the gunman again turned to kill McCarley but he convinced him he just wanted to check on his friend. One he reached his fallen comrade Detective Walter found that his handgun was still in his holster.

Taking advantage of the continued distractions, McCarley pretended to be rendering aid while actually getting his partners handgun. Pulling together his last bit of energy and willpower McCarley whirled around and began shooting. Seeing McCarley move the gunman turned and fired as well but one of McCarley’s rounds struck the gunman square in the head and he fell back on the bed dead. McCarley then called out to the detectives outside the bedroom who rushed in, secured the scene, and rendered immediate medical assistance.

Detective McCarley’s heroic actions under the most stressful and confusing circumstances while seriously injured is a credit to himself, his department, and the community he serves and are in keeping with the highest traditions of law enforcement. As such, it is with great honor and pride that the National Rifle Association names Detective David McCarley of the City of Pearl Mississippi Police Department as the 2012 NRA Law Enforcement Officer of the Year.
